County Acts to Get Work for Jobless

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Madison County has been allocated up to $496,000 to help relieve unemployment under the federal Public Employment Act of 1971. It was announced at a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors Wednesday morning.

The emergency employment program, a $1 billion measure signed last week by President Nixon, will be effective for a six-month period beginning tomorrow and lasting into February.

John Koster, Olive Township supervisor, told members of the board that $88,941 is available immediately for the county.

As participating local governments are to provide 10% matching funds, the board approved an appropriation of $8,814 to be made available to the Department of Labor.

The program partially was explained at a meeting of county board representatives in the state called Monday by the Regional Manpower Commission in Chicago. It was attended by Koster and Harold Landolt, board chairman.

Koster and William Straube of Edwardsville, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, called for immediate action on the appropriation as an application with the Manpower Commission is due in Chicago Friday.

Most members were unaware that Madison County had been designated for the emergency employment program for economically depressed areas having unemployment rates over 6%.

St. Clair County has been allocated up to $808,000, with the amount determined by the rate of unemployment, it was explained.

Any unemployed person of various categories from labor to professional groups will be eligible to apply for jobs, with an administrative center to be located in the county, and the prevailing rates of pay are to apply, Koster explained.

He said that not more than 3 1/2% of the allocation is to be used for administrative purposes, and that county services and equipment could be used as part of the 10% matching share.

The jobs are expected to be in public service areas, Koster and Straube said.

Reaction of the board was almost 100% favorable, and the appropriation resolution passed unanimously.

Dan Churchoff of Granite City, noting the economic hardship caused by the pullout of the Army Depot, said "we need something to bring some money into the area to help the economy."

Walter Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor, appeared somewhat leary of the program in the continuation of welfare.

"You're going to have to start earning your living by the sweat of your brow, rather than

Charles Wood, 65, of 2404 Missouri Ave., was killed and two persons were injured when his auto and one driven by Jerry L. Avert, 28, of Wood River, collided at 3:30 p.m. Monday at Route 3 and W. Ponton Road.

Mr. Wood died on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital where Avert and his passenger, John Buttry, 17, of East Alton, were admitted.

Avert suffered cuts to the left side of his chest and contusions and abrasions to his left shoulder and right knee. Buttry had abrasions and contusions to his right hip, right shoulder and left arm. X-rays and sutures were taken.

State police reported that the Wood auto was headed south on Route 3 and that the Avert car was going west, when the accident occurred.

An inquest is to be conducted. Mr. Wood retired six weeks ago from the Marshall Division of Miles Laboratories, Inc., where he had been employed for 47 years in the power house. He was a member of the Second Baptist Church.

He was born in Jackson County, Ill., and lived in Granite City 50 years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Nora Wood; one daughter, Mrs. Marvin (Erma) Singler of Granite City; a brother, George Wood of Granite City; four sisters, Mrs. Eunice Lindsey of Granite City, Mrs. Ava Cripps of Murphysboro, Ill., Mrs. Emma (Amy) Toney of Marion, Ill. and Mrs. Harold (Mildred) Morgan of Topeka, Ill., and a granddaughter, Connie Beth Singler of Granite City.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Levee Board Member Calls 'Mystery' Meet

A meeting with bankers, township supervisors, mayors, city commissioners, engineers, attorneys and accountants has been called by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District for 10 a.m. Monday without explanation of its purpose.

The meeting was arranged at the request of Lawrence Tolar, a member of the levee district board of trustees, who would say only that a plan has been proposed that will mean a substantial saving to taxpayers of the district.

William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, levee board president, said he did not know what the meeting is about. "But I'll go along and hope that it is something important," he said.

Venice, Madison Open Schools Next Week

Summer vacation for more than 3,300 Venice and Madison students will end early next week as Venice opens its schools for the fall term on Monday, and Madison on Wednesday.

The return to classes at Venice and Madison will precede by one week the opening of Granite City schools and area parochial schools. Granite City students will return to classes Aug. 31, while the parochial schools have a varied schedule of opening days beginning Aug. 27.

Both Madison and Venice schools will reopen with virtually the same enrollment as last year, while Granite City school officials presently project an increase of about 500 students over the 1970 fall term. An increase in this projection is possible, it was pointed out, because registration in the elementary schools will continue until school opening.

Venice school officials said their enrollment is anticipated at 455 students in the elementary grades and 205 high school students, for a total of 660. This compares with 220 students in the high school and 452 in the elementary grades for last year's attendance of 702.

Enrollment Unchanged

Madison is anticipating an elementary enrollment of 2,000, with 700 high school students, a total of 2,700. Last year's enrollment was 2,040 in the elementary schools and 660 high school students for an identical 2,700 enrollment last year.

Present Granite City enrollment projects a total of 7,927

Red Cross Starts Ditty Bag Project for GIs

"Operation Shop Early" is aptly named for good reason—Red Cross chapters across the country must receive "ditty bag" contributions no later than Sept. 30 in order to relay them to the servicemen in Vietnam in time for Christmas.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter will take part in the Christmas gift program which provides hundreds of thousands of filled ditty bags to the servicemen overseas. Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, chapter executive director, announced this week. Local organizations, clubs, church groups and individuals interested in making and filling the small green and red canvas sacks are asked to contact the Tri-City Red Cross office as soon as possible. A list of items most requested by soldiers in Southeast Asia also is available from the Red Cross chapter office and will be published in a subsequent issue of the Press-Record.

Export Issue Vital To Illinois Farmers

Illinois farmers would welcome administration actions which would result in a healthier economy and halt inflation, William H. Sauer, Route One, Murphysboro, Illinois Agricultural Association vice-president, said yesterday.

Sauer, speaking for IAA President Harold B. Steele, who is out of the state on business, said farmers generally would not quarrel with the announced goals of President Nixon's economic moves. However, he said, farmers are concerned about the President's announcement of a 10% levy against imports, since American agriculture depends heavily on foreign markets. Sauer said the big concern is to avoid damage to foreign markets; he pointed out that Illinois is the nation's largest agricultural exporter. "Anything which is done that hurts our ability to market abroad also hurts Illinois farm income," he said.

Madison to Oppose Sewer Fee Boost

The Madison City Council will oppose any effort of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District to increase sewer rental fees to help finance secondary treatment of sewage, council members decided in a meeting Tuesday night.

Levee district engineers recommended to the board of trustees Monday that a 75% increase in rental charges be effected by Jan. 1. Such an increase would raise the monthly fee from $1.15 to $2 for an average household. The levee district's Landon treatment plant serves residents of both Madison and Venice. Mayor Mike Sasyk told council members that he had conferred with William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, president of the levee board, concerning the proposed increase and said he learned that Ebersold also opposes any rate boost. On a motion by Alderman

Stanley Krakowiak, the council voted to send a letter to the levee board voicing the city's protest of a fee raise.

Open Car Bids
Two bids for furnishing the city two new police cars were opened and referred to the Purchasing Committee. City Clerk John Belloff explained that only two dealers bid on the cars because of the approaching model changeover which makes it difficult for dealers to make bids at this time.

Metro-Lincoln-Mercury, Inc. of East St. Louis, bid $3,525 on a two-door model and $3,575 on a four-door auto; B. E. Hohl Co., submitted a $3,341.95 bid on a two-door model but reported their firm could not bid on a four-door due to the changeover. A motion was made by Fourth Ward Alderman Mike Sikora, seconded by Second Ward Alderman Don Broyles to refer the bid problem to the purchasing committee for study and evaluation.

Mayor Sasyk called attention to the SIMAPC zoning ordinance report prepared in 1969. Sasyk asked the council to study it before the next meeting as it would be presented for approval at that time. Sasyk pointed out that a zoning ordinance is needed by the city to qualify federal housing funds.

Defense Director Named
In other business the council approved the appointment of Steve Graklanoff, 909 Lee Avenue, as Civil Defense Director for the City of Madison to become effective Sept. 1 to May 1.

The council discussed the need in the Grenzer and Garechse Homes for a combination recreation director and watchman. Mayor Sasyk explained that with the large number of young people living in the apartments, an organized recreation program would help guide the children into constructive areas.

Second Ward Alderman Richard Klinger moved that the local housing director and the office of Housing and Urban Development be contacted regarding the hiring of a recreation director.

Mayor Sasyk urged all Council members, and the citizens of Madison to support the Tom Sticks benefit barbecue scheduled Saturday and Sunday. Sasyk said the project is the most important ever undertaken in the area and he complimented the Venice Lions Club for spearheading the event.

Pontoon Beach Seeking Park Land, Financing

The possibility of obtaining land for a public park in Pontoon Beach is being considered by the village board of trustees under the Department of Housing and Urban Development Agency's "Open Space" program.

Members of the board will meet this month with Louis Whitsell, Namook Township supervisor, and HUD officials, to discuss the possibility of the village obtaining financial help for at least one park. Dr. Dean Rochester, trustee, commented at the board's last meeting that the village should consider not only a small playground park for children but also should look for enough property for baseball diamonds and other facilities for teens and adults.

Whitsell, who attended the village board's meeting, said that the village could apply for HUD assistance or it could request annexation by the Granite City Park District. Fred Reier, trustee, commented "We wouldn't get any facilities from that, we would just get taxes for Wilson Park."

To Seek Land
Thomas L. Stalcoff, board president, urged all members to begin searching for land which could be donated to or purchased by the village for park purposes.

Dr. Rochester added that land should be obtained in the near future for the police department. He said the mobile home presently in use by the department is on private property and the village should purchase property for it before land valuation is being considered. "This too high," he commented, "is growing so fast the cost may be too high now," he commented.

He volunteered to head a committee to investigate open land for possible purchase and to report to the board within three months.

In other action the board elected to call for bids for regular and high-test gasoline for the equipment. "In the past we tried to buy only from village establishments but the cost is becoming prohibitive," Stalcoff stated.

Stalcoff reported he had investigated the possibility of the village purchasing a gasoline pump and tank, but recommended that the $2,500 expense for the two was too high, with which the board concurred.

Whitsell suggested from the audience that the village was exempt from paying gasoline taxes and tax waivers could be obtained. Stalcoff agreed to investigate the possibility of obtaining a waiver and a possible reduction on gasoline taxes which already have been paid by the village.

Tools, Cash Taken
Oliver H. Jones, 1903 Edwardsville Road, told police at 9:10 p.m. Tuesday that burglars had broken into a tool box at his home taking several tools. He also said $28 was taken from his wife's purse.

Steel Imports Soar, Add to Balance of Payments Woes

More foreign steel entered the United States during the first six months of 1971 than during the first half of any other year in history, according to government data supplied to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The statistics were released only days after Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans warned that the U. S. might have its first negative trade balance since 1893.

June just missed matching the all-time one-month steel import record, and marked only the second time in history that more than two million tons of foreign-made steel had arrived in the U. S. during a single month.

A total of 2,112,000 tons of imported steel landed in this country during the 30 days of June. This was just 26,000 tons short of the single month import mark of 2,138,000 tons set in August 1968—a 31-day month.

June's surge lifted steel imports through the first half of 1971 to a record-breaking 9,055,000 tons. The previous high for the first half of any year was 8,150,000 tons in 1968.

By the end of 1968, 18 million tons of foreign steel had arrived in the U. S.

In 1968, as this year, the negotiation of a new labor contract was accompanied by consumer steel stockpiling against the possibility of an industry shutdown that did not materialize.

The more than nine million tons of first half, 1971, steel imports had a declared value of $1,290,000,000.

Nearly half of June's 2,112,000 tons of imports consisted of sheets and strip—which account for about 40% of total domestic mill sales. During the month, 840,000 tons of these products entered the U. S.

The month also saw imports of 210,000 tons of pipe, well over 182,000 tons of plates and more than 180,000 tons of structural steel.

The hard-hit specialty steel segment of the domestic industry also saw substantial imports of the products it makes.

June stainless steel imports, for example, topped 19,000 tons—pushing their first six month total to nearly 100,000 tons. By comparison, stainless imports were only slightly more than 94,000 tons during the first half of last year.

Foreign alloy steel shipments into this country during June were over 38,000 tons. This made their first half, 1971, total nearly 200,000 tons—a substantial increase over the nearly 160,000 tons of alloy imports recorded for the comparable period of 1970.

On July 29, Senators Vance Hartke and Hugh Scott—supported by more than one-third of the entire U. S. Senate—introduced a bill which would place mandatory quotas on steel imports.

The measure is similar to one recently introduced in the U. S. House of Representatives by Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Thomas Morgan.

Bloated by consumer hedge-buying against the strike that never materialized, domestic steel shipments totaled 52,751,000 tons during the first half of 1971.

Had there been no possibility of a strike—and consequent domestic industry shutdown—much of this steel would have been purchased later in the year. It is for this reason that U. S. producers are now experiencing a sharp slump in sales while inventories are being pared.

During the first half of 1970, domestic mills shipped 48,028,000 tons of steel to their customers.

June 1971 shipments of 9,810,000 tons were the highest of the year, and were 400,000 tons greater than May's 9,410,000 total.

This year's May to June employment growth in the domestic steel industry was the lowest in several years.

Traditionally, steel companies begin hiring temporary summer help during June as vacation relief for permanent employees. But 33,683 persons were on industry payrolls during the month; this was only a slight increase over the 33,459 employees, reported for May.

June's employment total was down substantially from the 541,334 persons reported on steelmaker payrolls during the same month last year. The May to June employment rise in 1971 was 1,044 persons.

Total hours worked by wage earners also dropped in June of this year—but the average work week for persons employed climbed slightly.

June wage and salary payments to all employees by domestic steelmakers were $465,400,000 compared with $477,000,000 for May.

Highlights of the Institute's steel industry monthly employment cost report include: Total employment costs per hour by employees: $5.94 per hour in June 1971, compared with $5.88 average for 1970. The employee benefits included in the figure (pensions, insurance, supplemental unemployment benefits, the nonpayroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs and legally required payroll taxes) are partly estimated.

Average hours worked per week by wage earners: 38.2 in June 1971, compared with 38.0 hours in May and 38.2 hours in April.

The above data cover only employees engaged in production and marketing of steel and exclude mining and nonsteel employees in companies having such operations.

Pros, Cons on Waterloo Airport Site Sounded

Approval of the Columbia-Waterloo, Ill. site for the proposed $550 million airport was voiced generally by most of 380 persons attending the second night of public hearings in Belleville Tuesday.

The Tuesday hearing was in contrast to the first session at Waterloo Monday night when boos and outcries of protest were in the majority. Another hearing is scheduled Monday night at the SIU Center in East St. Louis.

Among spokesmen supporting the site selection was Edward B. Kellogg, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities, who told Tuesday's hearing the chamber board "urges that the proper agencies grant an early approval of this proposed site so that the necessary plans and construction might begin in the very near future."

Kellogg said the chamber board's support was based on several factors, including the apparent superiority of the site over Missouri locations, the relationship of the proposed site to St. Louis and the center of population of the U.S., the financing which already has been begun by the state legislature, and the impact of the facility on southwestern Illinois.

Other speakers from the Quad-Cities included Carl Ranft, manager of the Tri-City Port District, and Carl Mathias, service area manager of Illinois Power Co. Both supported placement of the airport at Waterloo.

Kenneth R. Rogers, vice-president of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, said that his group "vigorously endorses and supports the location of the new airport at the proposed Illinois site."

Another favorable opinion was expressed by Lawrence R. MacHane, dean of Science and Technology at Southern Illinois University-Southern campus, who said the facility "would contribute to the long overdue redevelopment—resurgence of the area."

He said that "anyone taking a good hard look at the St. Louis area is led eventually to look for an airport site near the southeast portion of the metropolitan area."

Other groups whose spokesmen expressed favorable feelings about the site included the Illinois Builders Association, the Belleville Board of Realtors and Illinois Power Co.

Concerned for City Mayor Virgil Gregson of Hecker, Ill., expressed concern for his city, which is located at the end of one of the planned runways. He said that the airport authority carefully consider the noise and pollution effects on his village before finalizing the site selection.

At Monday night's session in Waterloo, the audience appeared opposed to the site selection, but 24 speakers were divided in their opinions, with 11 in favor of the Waterloo site, nine against and three who insisted they were neutral, despite caustic comments.

Among those expressing negative opinions Monday was Emilio Bassy, a teacher at Columbia High School, who told those present that the R. Dixon Speas Associates and the Arthur D. Little Inc., who sold the port authority were "over optimistic."

Eugene Kolmer, secretary of the Monroe County Farm Bureau, stated, "Instead of salt, we use asphalt and concrete upon our fertile lands to cast our offspring into a penitentiary."

Kolmer said that of the 16,500 families his group represents, three out of every four persons surveyed by the bureau "does not give proper thought to the priorities for this land."

Jack Norman, chairman of the Columbia Planning Commission, warned that the area around the proposed site could not meet the demands of more city residents and increased demands for housing, schools, water, sewage treatment facilities, police, fire protection and general government.

Walter Fleper, a Waterloo resident, told the board there is no need for a new airport. "St. Louis is dying," he said and added, "It's inevitable."

"Must we have a Spanish Pavilion type airport fiasco?" he questioned.

Among those in favor of the site selection were Robert Thomas of Red Bud, business representative of Local 520 of the Operating Engineers Union, Lloyd Arras, business representative for Carpenters Local 1967 in Columbia and Jerome Shields, business representative for Laborers Local 196 in Waterloo. All commented the construction of the airport near Waterloo would create more jobs in the area.

Harold R. Fischer, Granite City banker and chairman of the board of trustees of SIU, and chairman of the Tri-City Regional Port District commented that an Illinois airport

Price-Wage Freeze Poses Area Problems

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

President Richard M. Nixon's announcement of a wage, rent and price freeze has generated numerous questions in the Quad-City area—many of them still unanswered.

Among the groups seeking clarification on vital points are area school board officials. Southern Illinois University, Southern Illinois campus administrators, steel companies, union leaders, and the average Quad-City resident.

The school boards questions whether plans for a pay hike for teachers, employees and administrators for the school year may become effective. Many teachers are guaranteed automatic raises in their contracts, and most signed new working agreements last spring.

Of the 735 certified teachers and administrators of Granite City School District, only about 35 are on 12-month pay and received their increases July 1.

The remaining 700 remain in doubt as to whether their increases are included in the freeze.

About one-half of all other employees have received their increases and about 150 others were guaranteed hikes under a contract which is to enter its third year next month.

Raises Another Question
B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, raised another question: "Will tax increases be allowed during the freeze," Davis commented that a tax increase is included in this year's school budget and without the increase, many plans may have to be changed. "There is no possible way of meeting that budget without an increase,"

Davis commented. The government said yesterday, however, that taxes are not affected by the president's mandate.

Davis said that superintendents throughout the state are awaiting a ruling from the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in Springfield on the effect of the freeze on school districts.

The effect has been somewhat the same on Madison School District 12 where Fred Riddle, superintendent, has resigned himself that none of the district's 121 teachers, nine administrators or 40 custodial and secretarial employees will be granted increases until after the freeze is lifted.

"That includes myself," Riddle commented. Several year-round employees, primarily custodians, already have been granted increases which will not be affected, Riddle indicated.

Venice Raises Affected
In Venice, a $500 across the board raise for the district's 33 teachers was to have been effective the opening day of school, but apparently is caught in the freeze. Fourteen teachers at Venice - Lincoln Technical Center began classes July 1, before the freeze began, and are therefore being paid at the higher rate. Nine custodians, seven secretaries and five administrators in the district are twelve-month employees and were granted raises July 1, excluding them from the freeze requirements.

Superintendents from throughout the county met with Wilber R. L. Trimpe, superintendent of educational region, Tuesday to discuss the effect of the wage freeze. Local administrators said a legal advisor to the Office of Public Instruction, from Springfield, spoke to the group but was unable to clear up the controversy on many points.

The attorney told the supervisors their questions could not be answered until attorneys had an opportunity to review the presidential orders.

At SIU-SW, the battle for tuition increases seems to have been won as a decision by the Commerce Department Tuesday declared that tuitions were not included in the presidential order. That announcement was reinforced by a Treasury Department statement later that day. A spokesman at the SIU said yesterday that the $26 full-time student tuition hike has been collected since July 12, the first day of freshman registration.

Robert Bruner, registrar, commented Tuesday that his office was prepared to issue refunds to those registered at the higher tuition if attorneys rule against the hike.

Higher Tuition Costs
Full time students are now paying $191.50 for tuition as compared to $165.50 last quarter. For students taking from six to ten credit hours, tuition increased from $112.50 to $129.50, and students taking five hours or fewer now paying $67.50 in tuition, up from $58.50.

Scholarships also are a question since most have been increased to cover all or part of the tuition increase. If the increase is found to be under the freeze, intensive bookkeeping will be necessary before the Illinois State Scholarship Commission is paid by SIU-SW after mid-quarter.

This raises the perplexing question as to approval of a tuition increase in the face of rejected faculty salary increases. University employees were to have been granted an increase of about 4% by the State Legislature in October 1971, but the increase was nullified by the tuition increase.

SIU on Agenda
The SIU board of directors is to meet Friday in Carbondale, but the freeze is not among the items on the agenda, a spokesman said.

The steel industry appears to be in an uproar on the question of the wage and price freeze, as are most steel companies, including Granite City Steel Co. which has announced price increases. Steelworker union contract negotiations have begun here.

Price increases of 60 cents per 100 pounds of hot rolled bands, 68 cents on hot rolled sheet and strip, 77.5 cents for cold rolled sheet and 87.5 cents on galvanized sheet steel were to become effective at Granite City Steel Co. Saturday, Nov. 20, 17 days after the freeze is to end, but recent announcements from Washington indicate Mr. Nixon may choose to lengthen the freeze beyond the original 90 days.

Meanwhile, the United Steelworkers of America are negotiating new contracts for the steelworkers, whose contracts are due to expire during the freeze. The new contracts, if settled, either could go into effect immediately, against Mr. Nixon's order, or could be made effective when the freeze expires, all of which will depend upon later rulings and interpretations.

Compliance a Question
Buddy W. Davis, international representative for the steelworkers union, commented Monday that if the provisions of the freeze were voluntary, they would not have a place in contract negotiations.

"If penalties for non-compliance will be imposed, we will have to abide by them," Davis said.

Local union officials commented that any orders issued would be from higher union sources and would be relayed to the membership by the local union.

Granite City Steel Co.'s contract with their 2,865 steelworkers will expire Oct. 1, 60 days after the basic steel industry and the union reached agreement nationwide. Contract talks have been under way at the local plant since Monday morning with local issues the main bargaining points.

One of the issues apparently involves plans to ship only semi-finished products from the local plant to National Steel Co., for finishing. National Steel's merger with the local company

Driver Injured As Auto Overtakes

Robert Milligan, 22, of Cottage Hills, was injured when his auto went out of control on the southbound exit ramp from Interstate 270 to Route 111 at 2:25 a.m. yesterday. The auto rolled into the median on Route 111 south of I-270, crossed the northbound lane and came to rest in a ditch east of the highway.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for a cut to the right side of his neck and face and a cut to his right elbow which required 15 sutures. He was admitted.

Vandalism Reported

has been approved and the plan will be put into effect after the merger has been completed.

A statement by a steelworker representative on the Joint Committee at Granite City Steel Co. said Tuesday that the unions have not been notified at this point of United States Justice Department approval of the merger. He said the Joint Committee met with company officials to discuss the matter.

"Shipping of semi-finished products would create a drastic unemployment problem," a union spokesman stated. The four production and maintenance units are meeting with company officials this week, and negotiations with the main union team are expected to resume next week.

Contracts for steelworkers at American Steel Foundries expire Oct. 1, and primary negotiators are now taking place in Hammond, Ind., to reach agreement. The union is seeking a 3% increase in wages and fringe benefits in a three-year contract, Davis commented, "despite the wage freeze."

About 1,000 steelworkers, machinists and electricians and pattern makers have contracts expiring in October at American Steel, the steelworkers on Oct. 15, and the machinists and electricians on Oct. 31.

At Laclede Steel Co., the contracts of about 600 steelworkers expire Oct. 1, and steelworkers, Inc., have a contract through Nov. 1.

Report on City's MFT Finances Due Monday

A complete report on the financial status of Granite City's motor fuel tax program was requested of City Clerk Robert Stevens Monday night after the city council members awarded another in a growing number of contracts for city street improvements.

The request came from Alderman Thomas Boker after the council approved unanimously a motion by Alderman Claude Green to award a contract in the amount of $129,842 to the A. H. Seebold Co. for improvement of a three-block stretch of Buxton Avenue between Victory Drive and St. Clair Avenue.

The contract was let on the lowest of two bids. The bid was submitted by G. H. Sternberg & Co. which offered $144,873 for the project. The job includes curb and guttering, resurfacing and installation of drainage provisions.

Action on the contract letting followed receipt of a notice from the Illinois Division of Highways, read at a city council communication, that the state highway department had approved city resolutions appropriating $155,000 for the work.

$600,000 in Fund
After a roll call vote approving the award, Alderman Boker pointed out that the city has a balance of slightly more than $600,000 in its motor fuel tax fund and that "it is time we checked up to see where we stand on our ability to pay for this work."

Boker asked Stevens if it would be possible to bring in a report to the council's next meeting Monday night listing the outstanding jobs and their cost, jobs that are being engineered and jobs that are on the planning list. Stevens replied that he would provide such a report.

Some city officials, spearheaded by Mayor Donald Partney, insist that city council members are overspending the motor fuel tax fund to such an extent that it will take all of the city's motor fuel tax revenue for the next five years to meet existing obligations.

Mayor Partney told the council not long ago that his figures show the city has more than $2.3 million in committed MFT projects, with only $600,000 in the motor fuel tax fund. The city receives a monthly allotment ranging from $35,000 to $40,000 per month. The city's July allocation, for example, was $39,537, according to a notice from the state highway department read to the council in Monday night's meeting.

City Hall Improvement
On a motion by Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the council's City Hall Committee, the aldermen Monday night also approved the award of a contract to the Granite City Glass Co. to install 73 new aluminum windows in the city hall building, complete with aluminum sash and framing, at a price of $14,679.

The contract was awarded over the protest of Alderman Paul Schuler who pointed out the bid was not the lowest of three submitted. Schuler said the only dissenting vote on the contract award.

Whitmer pointed out that the Granite City firm's bid was only $79 higher than the bid of the True Light Window Co. and that with such slight difference he preferred to give the work to "a Granite City firm that pays taxes here." Whitmer told the council the True Light Window Co. has a sales office in St. Louis "and its headquarters somewhere else."

The other bid was submitted by S. Bertachi & Sons, also of Granite City, but that offer of $18,883 for the same grade window was not considered because of the difference in the bid prices.

Schuler maintained that "the object of taking bids is to get the lowest price," but Whitmer and other council members remarked that occasionally the "lowest bid is not always the best bid."

Council members also approved a request by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer that the city call bids for furnishing four new police squad cars to replace cars 1, 2, 3 and 5, all of which have mileage of more than 80,000 miles.

New Drug Bills Signed Into Law

Legislation drawing a clear line between the misuse of "hard drugs" such as heroin and the misuse of less harmful drugs such as marijuana, was signed into law this week by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. "Set up the controls needed to meet the challenges of drug abuse in a changing society."

The three bills will provide graduated penalties to the chance user of drugs, but increase sharply penalties for sellers, distributors and other persons profiting from drug traffic, particularly that involving minors.

The legislation "establishes a more realistic penalty structure, provides regulatory flexibility to cope with new chemical inventions and variations of dangerous drugs, and links the state control structure closely to the federal system," Governor Ogilvie said.

The Governor also signed a bill fixing the full fair cash value of property at 50% of assessment for counties under 200,000 population. Courts have permitted assessment from 49% to 108% in the past.

Another bill signed gives the Department of Local Government Affairs the power to equalize tax assessments between townships at the request of local agencies. The county Board of Review now has the power to equalize between townships.

Heroes Win Mercer Boosters To Tangle Sunday

Classic-S Ball Crown

Hagop's Heroes won the playoff championship in the Classic Southern Softball League, defeating Granite City Pest Control 8-2 Wednesday at Worthen Park.

The titlists collected 12 hits and were sharp on the field with only one error, while Pest Control was held to seven safeties while bobbing twice.

The Classic Eastern championship will be decided in a game at 9 p.m. today at Worthen Park as Miles Lab meets Keith's Lounge.

In semifinals Wednesday, Miles held on for a 13-12 decision over Inn Between while Keith's tripped Davis Funeral 9-7.

Miles held a 13-8 advantage going into the top of the seventh and cut an Inn Between rally short at four runs.

Keith's broke a 4-1 tie with two runs in the third inning and three more in the fifth to ice the game, though Davis managed three markers in its half of the frame.

Boys Ice Hockey Registration Set

The Granite City Amateur Hockey Association will register boys from 6 to 16 for various teams for the coming hockey season at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 9 at the Wilson Park rink.

All boys must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Divisions will include minisquirts, squirts, pee-wees, bantams and midgets.

GC Patrolman Bags 1st Bear in Ontario Bush

An ambition was realized by Granite City Patrolman Glenn Wright recently when he bagged his first bear while the Wrights and another local family were enjoying a camping holiday in the Canadian bush country around Kemora, Ontario.

Officer Wright, his wife Lois and daughter, Gay, spent a week in an area north of Lake of the Woods. Their base camp was located about 8 miles from Lake Zivak on the Manitoba-Ontario border.

The Wrights were accompanied on the trip by Earl Tucker, his wife Marcella and children, Paula and Eric. Tucker owns and operates the Granite City School of Beauty Culture, 1815 Edison Ave.

"We're going to be playing real tough ball, using the same errorless defense we used against Troy," Greer said. "If we can shake our bats loose, we're going to give them a lot of trouble. One thing their catcher better do is get his arm loose as we are going to be hitting bases. We have averaged two to three stolen bases a game."

Mercer has a 7-9 record and the Boosters are at 3-12. In other action Sunday Maryville (4-10) will meet Blue Division leader Molitor (13-2) at Collinsville, Highland-Pleasant (6-8) will play at Glen Carbon (6-9) and Red Division leader Troy (11-5) moves to Fairfax. The Machinists are unscheduled.

Snelson's Win Crown In Classic-N League

Snelson's Auto Body won the Classic Northern League playoff championship Tuesday at Worthen Park by defeating the Eagles 15-5.

Taking a 3-0 lead in the first inning, Snelson's scored in every inning but the fifth, racking up a total of 20 hits while committing one error. The Eagles entered the scoring column with a run in the third and four in the sixth frames. The losers picked up eight hits and committed five errors.

In the Classic Southern League, Hagop's Heroes defeated Pisans 6-2 and the Granite City Pest Control Jets edged Abel's Auto Body 8-6 in playoff semifinals at Worthen Park.

The Pisans were held to eight hits while the Heroes scored twice in the first, second and fourth frames. The Jets trailed 4-1 before staging a six run rally and added an insurance run in the sixth inning.

Labor Day Softball Meet Set

The Granite City Park District will hold its annual Labor Day Men's Softball Tournament beginning Aug. 30 and running through Sept. 6.

Morris Homers, Local 16 Downs Tony, Joe 8-5

A home run by Ralph Morris led Local 16 to an 8-5 victory over Tony & Joe's Monday in the 35 & Over League at Worthen Park.

The big inning for the winners was the fourth when they tallied four runs.

Nine hits resulted in an 8-1 victory for Midtown Pharmacy over the American Legion which also tagged nine hits. Hook's Tavern downed the Elks 11-5, outlasting the losers 17 to 15. C. T. Jones tripped for the winners.

Park Tennis Tourney Set for This Weekend

The ninth annual Granite City Park District invitational tennis tournament will be played Saturday and Sunday at the Wilson Park courts.

Bill Logan, tourney manager, announced that he expects a field of at least 32 top Southern Illinois players in the men's singles, topped by the tournament's defending champion, Granite City's John Van Buskirk.

Van Buskirk, a student at Texas' Hardin-Simmons University and a standout player on the Granite City High School team in his prep days, turned back Ron Underwood, also a former Granite City player, in the finals of the tourney last year.

Underwood, a graduate and now a coach at Murray State in Kentucky, has been invited to play. He has two legs on the meet's traveling trophy. Three victories retires the trophy.

There will be two other divisions in the tourney in addition to the men's singles. They are men's doubles and senior men's singles.

Entries have been received from Collinsville, Belleville, Olney, Flora, Vandalia, Springfield, Alton, Edwardsville and East St. Louis.

In addition to Logan and Van Buskirk, another top Granite City player, Mike Barnes, who lost to Van Buskirk, 6-2, 13-11, two weeks ago in the finals of the Park District tournament, is entered.

The new strong father-and-son combination from Flora, Cecil and Bob Powless, are entered. Belleville's Larry Kline and Jim Schwartz are also strong entries. Bob Hardy, a standout player from Springfield, will also be a threat. Olney's Yogi Bergman is a strong contender.

Pairings and first-round draws will be made Friday night, August 20th.

continuing the welfare roles," he remarked.
He said he did not want a "featherbedding deal" and suggested that the resolution contain a reservation clause.
Wago, Price Freeze
In a brief discussion of the presidential wage and price freeze, Straube informed the board and department heads that copies of the regulations on the wage freeze will be distributed as soon as they are available.
The board approved a 300x300-foot site on the old tuberculosis sanatorium grounds for construction of a new warehouse to store the county's new voting machines.
John Gilchick, chairman of the County Public Building Commission, informed the board that a 150x150-foot building would be erected of steel strand or stucco materials and that the site was preferred over one at the old nursing home, because of space and other considerations.

Arthur Braundmiller of New Douglas, chairman of the election and voting machine study committee, was critical of "unwanted publicity" concerning purchase of the machines from the Shoup Co. which is under federal indictment for some transactions with other counties in various parts of the county.
He asked Marshall Smith, assistant state's attorney and the county's legal advisor who drew the purchase resolution, why he had issued a public letter suggesting that the committee and others take a lie detector test.
Smith, who said such a test would take 15 minutes each, would make it easier for the federal government in any investigation of the purchase here and that it would clear any public doubt of the integrity of the members.

Mobile Home Court
A lengthy discussion on a recommended approval by the County Zoning Board of Appeals of a mobile home court as part of a recreation package in Godfrey Township led to the reversal of the zoning board by a vote of 21 to 18. Howard Kaseberg, chairman, explained the zoning board's action.
Arthur "Cooper" Moore of Venice Township announced that a meeting will be held in early September of the steering committee, which he heads, with Robert J. Lenhausen, state director of local government affairs, with the finance committee, to determine means of tax sharing of county income with townships.
A report by Fred Painter, deputy collector in the delinquency tax department, showed that $29,072 in back taxes was collected in July and that $26,584 in back taxes have been collected since the department was established.
It also was announced that $3,083 in mobile home licenses have been collected under the new mobile home control program.
To open the meeting David L. Huckle, 820 Bend Road, was seated as assistant supervisor of Nameoki Township, succeeding Roger Deltour.
Appointments of Roger Elble, chairman, Robert Ford and Louis Whitell as members of the Urban Flood Control Committee, and of J. J. Gramlich of St. Jacob Township to the investigation and to license committee to replace Deltour, were approved.
The board transferred a part of Granite City Precinct 4 to Precinct 12.

Letter by Scroggins Irks Some Aldermen

City Attorney Leon Scroggins left the city on vacation last week, and so notified City Clerk Robert Stevens that he would not be present at Monday night's regular council meeting. His letter, read to the council as a communication at the opening of the council meeting, irked several aldermen. It said: "I am taking a very brief vacation and will be unable to attend tonight's (Aug. 16) meeting. I have requested the new assistant city attorney, Mr. Jim Thebeau, to attend in my absence. "Although it is not necessary, I would point out to the governing body of the city that my attendance at city council meetings greatly surpasses that of a certain loud-mouth alderman who who enjoys seeing his name in print." "I don't agree with that . . . who enjoys seeing his name in print," Steve Basarich commented. On a voice vote on a routine motion to receive and file the communication, Basarich voted no, necessitating a roll call

"My Boss Tells Me I'm Only Publishing a Pricelist!"
Actually, my job is to tell you on the idea that our stores are somewhat better than our competitors, and regardless of how many stories I tell in paid ads, I know that they will be regarded as much "bullshit" unless the statements are correct, and maybe slightly understated.
To tell you just one time, just plainly doesn't pay. We must tell the same people year in and year out, and continually pick up new regular customers. After all, we do lose one once in a while; some die, some move away. On the other hand, we have many new families moving into our area. We would like them for customers also. So, we must be continually alert to make good buys, then pass the savings on to both new and old customers. We will continually try to direct our advertising to our customers, whom we regard as highly intelligent.

Miss Lynn Ann Hawn is Bride of E. L. Eggley

Miss Lynn Ann Hawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Hawn, 522 South Jefferson St., Hartford City, Ind., became the bride of Edward L. Eggley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Eggley, 2696 Center St., in a ceremony performed in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Granite City on Aug. 6.

Mr. Donald A. Piccozzi officiated at the 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor-length gown of embroidered lace over satin designed with an Empire waistline and a high neckline embellished with tiny seed pearls. The long full sleeves ended in scalloped edges at the waist that were repeated on the hemline of the slightly gathered skirt.

Matching lace trimmed the full-length train and the shoulder-length veil was held in place with a band of lace. She carried a bouquet of white asters and purple statice, blue lace and ribbon.

Miss Vivian McCann was maid of honor and Miss Donna Eggley, a sister of the groom, and Mrs. Donald Piccozzi were bridesmaids.

Shower Honors Miss Wallace

The Fellowship Hall of the Nameki Methodist Church was the scene during the weekend of a bridal shower given in honor of Miss Debbie Wallace. Hostesses were Mrs. Virginia Peters, Mrs. Wanda Wallace, Mrs. Agnes Kohn and Mrs. Virginia Bridges.

Colors predominating in the decorations were green and gold, the colors to be used in the wedding.

Suspended from the ceiling was a large white umbrella trimmed in white net, with small clusters of white flowers. Streamers in green and gold and white wedding bells decorated the ceiling.

Behind the gift table, which was centered with a large bride doll, was a trellis decorated with green vines and daisies and highlighted by large replicas of an engagement and wedding ring. Daisies and more crepe paper streamers decorated the front of the table.

Guest tables were centered with large old-fashioned dolls in green and yellow gingham dresses and sunbonnets. Each guest received either a bride, a groom or a bridesmaid doll as a favor.

Games were played, with numerous prizes awarded. Winners were given their choice of prizes from an umbrella. Two special prizes went to Mrs. Frances Roberts and Mrs. Peggy Short. The doll centerpieces, given as the honoree opened her gifts, were received by Mrs. Anna May Turner, Mrs. Linda Bridges, Mrs. Agnes Kern and Mrs. Nancy Turner. As Miss Wallace opened her gifts, she was assisted by her bridesmaids, Mrs. Debbie Wehrt, Miss Chris Epperson, Miss Pam Peters and Mrs. Gloria Baldoni.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with an old-fashioned doll, with green and gold and white wedding bells on the serving table. Assisting the hostesses in serving were Mrs. Lynn Briner and Mrs. Alma Cowan.

Small open-faced sandwiches were served on bread which had been tinted green and gold and cut in the shapes of bells and hearts. Each piece of cake was centered with a gold rose with green leaves. The punch was green.

Others in attendance were Mesdames June Baumann, Florence Tempo, Grace Lehne, Jean Tapp, Geraldine Brooks, Lucille Thompson, Mae Williams, Maurine Lewallen, Pat Lynn, Gloria Joyce, Faye Heater, Betty Carbaugh, Dorothy Born.

Dear Nana--How About 'Googie' As a Nickname for Grandmother?

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copley News Service

Dear Nana: I got quite a laugh when I read a letter headed Grand-Ma Title Unwanted and signed Blessed Event.

I don't know how young you gotta be to be too young to be a grandma. But I was 39 and felt awfully proud of my new grandchild. I still feel young at 51 and 7 1/2 grandkids later.

As for picking a nickname (if you feel you don't deserve the title of grandma), how about Googie?

I don't doubt this lady will have to worry about picking a name for herself, as the word Grandma is to difficult for a child to say when learning to talk. And I they usually pick their own way of saying it.

My little granddaughter started calling me Googie and it stuck.

I'm known as Googie for miles around and love it. I even had labels made — "Fashions by Googie" — to attach to gifts of clothing I made for my grandchildren.

My grandchildren are lucky enough to have great-grandmothers whom they all call great-grannies. But I'm still their Googie.

I suspect this expectant grandmas has other hangups too.

Dear Googie: Three cheers for you, Googie. You're 46, grandchildren up on me. But I'm sure I'm not the only grandmother who agrees with your letter.

Dear Nana: In my paper the first item in your column referred to a mother 76 years old. The problem referred to was repeated telephone calls to the family.

It was signed Away. I've been a beautician for many years in a rest home. And let me tell you your advice was poor and uninformed.

I can tell your experience in this field doesn't qualify you to answer questions on this subject from your reply. How close have you been to a rest home?

In the first place, the "owners" never talk to the patients. In the second place, information that is given to an administrator is never passed on to the hired help.

Even if it were, there are three shifts, constantly changed to different patients. There are usually one or two public phones, no more. If they have any money, they can't get change.

The aides, nurses, etc., save it for themselves for the cake and snack machines. So forget the home answering her questions when she forgets.

Now this leaves only one way for "forgetful mamma" to call. Her family has a rivate phone for? For her just to look at.

The children are married and on their own. How often do they visit her, if ever?

Maybe if her daughter wasn't so busy being away, mamma wouldn't be calling so often. It seems someone is there answering the phone or how could it pester them?

Over the years, Nana, when you work with these people and see just how forgotten they are, it's heartbreaking.

The care is poor at its very best.

If you are a mother, Nana, your day is coming and so is mine. I pray you never find yourself in the position of going to a rest home.

It's not a home away from home — it's "hell."

B.K.P.

Dear B.K.P.: Apparently you haven't followed my column for any length of time or you'd have known that I've owned, operated and lived in a rest home for many years. I'd say that's about as close to one as you can get, wouldn't you?

Although you may have some basis for your bitter criticism of the facilities for the elderly, I doubt that your position as a beauty operator in one qualifies you as an expert on this subject.

And before you condemn this type of living for the aged and blacklist all rest, nursing homes and convalescent hospitals, I'd suggest you visit a few others besides the one you work for.

You might be pleasantly surprised to how nice these homes can be and how well the owners treat their patients.

I'll be glad to furnish you with a list of such homes in your area. Why should I own rotten apple spoil the barrel?

Nevertheless, I'd still give the same advice to any reader inquiring about the problem you're referring to because we provide all the services in our rest home that you say aren't being done for the patients in the one where you're employed.

And if my parents were in a home such as you've described, I'd move them immediately to another one.

What kind of living accommodations would these people have if they weren't in an aged home facility?

This is a matter you should consider very carefully before rendering so harsh an opinion on this issue. Because I don't think you really know or understand both sides of the story.

I've known many elderly whose own homes were their "hell."

And, remember, the owners of these homes aren't responsible for the heartbreaks that are caused by the patient's family. We just pick up the pieces and hope we can cure their hurt.

I'd be very happy to have you or anyone who's interested in learning about the rest home business visit ours at your convenience.

We're open 24 hours a day and there's always someone on the premises to answer the telephone as well as to help those patients who are forgetful.

Questions on problems of the elderly may be mailed to Copley News Service, P.O. Box 180, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

RIGHT TO WISDOM

SERMON TOPIC

Man's right to insight and wisdom will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science Church services.

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon. "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him."

This Bible promise will open the responsive reading.

Services are held at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., at 10:45 a.m. All are welcome.

Miss Jubilee

Olivia Schroeder, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schroeder, 37 Del Rio Drive.

Forty-eight young girls vied for the title by registering at the contest kickoff on July 19. To accumulate votes, the girls sold coupons which may be exchanged for tickets to the pageant.

All contestants have been invited to participate in the historical parade at 2 p.m. Saturday by riding on the "Little Miss Jubilee" contestants' float, Mrs. Chaboude said.

They are to assemble at 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard to be checked in. Their parents are to meet them at 29th and State Streets where the parade ends. The five escorts for Little Miss Jubilee and her attendants also are to ride with them on the float.

The five finalists will be presented at the Diamond Jubilee ball Saturday evening at the rink pavilion in Wilson Park, along with their escorts.

The little queen and her court of honor will reign during the Granite City Diamond Jubilee month along with Miss Granite City, Janice Albers, who is queen of the Diamond Jubilee, and her attendants.

'The Who' Draws Top MRF Crowd of 33,000

A one night attendance record was set at the Mississippi River Festival Monday when more than 33,000 persons gathered at the SU-SW campus to hear "The Who," a British rock group appearing there for one night only.

The attendance also brought the year's total to a record. Many of the patrons brought their own food but the crowd still consumed 3,000 hamburgers and 30,000 pounds of ice.

Mostly young people, the crowd started arriving in the afternoon and by 4:40 p.m. an estimated 20,000 persons were on hand. They spread blankets, smoked, ate and even danced before and during the concert which started at 8:30 p.m.

An appeal was broadcast to people who did not have advance tickets not to attend the concert when traffic jammed around the campus, and 20 buses were used to shuttle the audience to the concert site.

Total attendance last year was 118,440 and it is expected to reach 141,000 this year.

The three-piece British group played before a crowd of 12,000 at Detroit Sunday night where 25,000 were turned away. They are best known for writing the music for a rock opera called Tommy.

Pre-Law Intern Program Proves Beneficial

Pre-law students at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Edwardsville are getting practical experience in legal aid through a joint effort of the SIU-SW government faculty and the Madison County Legal Services Society.

The government faculty and the experimental studies program have inaugurated a legal aid internship program for undergraduates. Eight students served as interns last spring and two are currently serving.

Prof. James R. Kerr, is director of the internship program on the campus. He explained the program is designed to get students away from the abstracts of the classroom and into some practical experience.

Students act as para-professionals, assisting the Legal Services staff in various activities ranging from investigation of complaints relating to public aid to attending court with staff attorneys. The interns have worked in the Madison County Legal Aid offices at Alton or Madison, with attorneys A. Robert Kassir and with Sylvester Carter until he left the Legal Services Society. John Paul Davis, assistant to the chairman for legal affairs at SIU-SW, serves as a consultant for the program.

Mutually Beneficial
"We hope the program will be mutually beneficial to attorneys and to the students," Kerr said.

At the offices, the students are assigned a particular field of poverty law to research. Areas of research include investigation of complaints relating to public aid, the food stamp program, deposits required by public utilities, discrimination in housing, and emergency treatment available at local hospitals. Questions on anything from common law marriage to law school entrance exams were answered by Carter and Kassir.

Academic credit is given to the interns, the amount depending on whether they work in the offices for 10 or 20 hours a week. Grades for the spring quarter internship were determined by the attorneys after students had written reports.

Favors Expansion
Kassir favors the program and has urged its continuation and expansion. "Without the internship program our work would be difficult, and our outreach capabilities to the public would suffer. The students have been invaluable, especially in the field of research," he said. From research, a welfare rights manual has been compiled for distribution to people on welfare informing them of their legal rights under the welfare system. According to Kassir, this is the first welfare manual to be compiled in Madison County for welfare recipients.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

The students have recommended the program be expanded with minor changes. "I found the whole experience to be very beneficial. It has doubled my desire to become a lawyer and also has made me aware of the things the law office can do for social change," John Frey of Belleville said.

Kerr believes the program has been successful. "The program makes pre-law students more sympathetic with the slow pace of change through the legal process, but the internship has proved to be an effective program of first hand experience for the students involved," he said.

Port Board Approves $25,600 Budget

A tentative surplus budget was approved by the Tri-City Regional Port District board at a meeting Monday night. Carl Ranft, manager of the Port district, introduced the budget which lists $169,000 in anticipated revenue and $144,300 in expenses, including all bond retirement funds. Ranft warned that the income includes $89,000 in state funds which have not been approved at this time. "Without state funds, we can not operate," Ranft commented. The $25,600 surplus would be used for the "sinking" bond fund, Ranft explained. The fund is utilized as a reserve for future bonds.

The board agreed to call for bids for oiling and chipping of the dock road with the work to be completed before winter. Bids must be submitted prior to 11 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Ranft announced that the port district would have a page for advertisement in the Granite City Diamond Jubilee booklet which has been donated by Feder & Huber Furniture, Illinois Power Co., Granite City Trust & Savings Bank and First Granite City National Bank.

Federal Expenditures Bolstered Madison County Economy by $132 Million in 1970

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Federal outlays during the 1970 fiscal year of $132,075,894 in Madison County and $248,186,969 in St. Clair County bolstered the economy of the area and stimulated private spending, according to Congressman Melvin Price.

The Madison County total included $35,709,752 spent in Granite City and $15,965,209 spent in Alton.

The majority of federal funds were utilized by the counties in several areas of spending. Price's report shows. Monies channeled to the counties through the Department of Defense were used for military active duty pay, civilian pay, military prime supply and service contracts, civil functions prime contracts and other purposes.

Specifically, in Madison County, $12,968,000 was spent for civilian pay, $1,330,000 for active duty pay, $18,689 for military supply and service contracts and $1,089,000 for civil functions contracts.

In St. Clair County, more than $80 million was allocated for payrolls with $2,967,000 used for civilian pay and $48,938,000 for military active duty salaries. Additionally, $16,678,000 was expended for military prime supply and service contracts and $651,000 for civil functions contracts.

List School Funding
The Department of Health, Education and Welfare funded such programs as elementary and secondary school assistance, higher education student grants and loans, vocational rehabilitation for the disabled, aid to the blind, Medicare, Medicaid, hospital construction grants and material and child health services.

The Department of Labor funded manpower training programs, Neighborhood Youth Corps and other employment programs.

A breakdown of federal funding in Granite City included:
Department of Agriculture—Direct food distribution to institutions, $887; direct food distribution to schools, $20,834; food stamp bonus coupons, $111,637; donation of commodities to school lunch, $13,027; Department of Defense—Civilian pay, $12,910,000; military active duty pay, $1,330,000; military retired pay, $174,000; military prime supply contracts, $1,089,000; military prime service contracts, $236,000; civil functions prime contracts, $121,000; prime contracts of less than $10,000, $7,224,000.

Governor Signs Bills to Implement Constitution
Illinois' 1970 constitution has been implemented with Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's approval of legislation transferring authority to appoint district attorneys, commissioners, trustees and directors from circuit court judges to the county board or, in some rule counties, to the county's chief executive with approval of the county board.

In multi-county districts trustees will be appointed by legislators whose districts are within the area. In single-county areas with no municipalities of more than 5,000 population commissioners will be appointed by the county board or by the county's chief executive officer.

Other legislation approved by the governor will:
Allow Illinois military personnel on ordinary leave from active duty to hunt and fish in season without a license;

Reduce the hunting license fee to $1 for Illinois residents 65 years of age and over;

Authorize the secretary of state to cancel a driver's license if a driver fails to pay any fee or tax due under the Vehicle Code after reasonable demand and notice;

Amend the Vehicle Code to provide for notice of lost or stolen registration cards or plates and applications for duplicates;

Remove state income tax refunds from taxable income;

Require eye tests for school children;

Require health and safety provisions for rock festivals and other mass gatherings;

Permit the secretary of state to withhold a title transfer until past due fees and taxes are paid.

Vocational Ed Project On Display at Fair
A module of a corner of a house to depict proper construction, built by the seventh grade students enrolled in the new Industrial Arts program at Prairie Junior High School, is being displayed at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield this week.

The exhibit will be competing in the Educational Exhibits designated to emphasize vocational education, which is this year's theme. One exhibit from each of the six regions was selected for display at the fair. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has authorized awards up to $800 for the winner for each of the regions.

The module is built to show a corner of a house, including a part of a roof, ceiling, walls, one door and one window. It is used not to develop skill, but to learn to plan and recognize proper construction methods. The project is simulated in every phase, using contractors

YOUTH JESUS RALLY

The symbol of the fish once told persecuted Christians of secret meetings or worship service. We invite you to a not very secret meeting of young people who are on a ONE WAY TRIP with JESUS. We proudly announce that SAMMY TIPPIT will be our guest speaker and an ex-drug addict will tell his personal story.

World Agriculture Convention in State

Thirty-two scholars and top officials of agriculture and agronomy from 19 countries attended the American Agriculture Economics convention ending yesterday at Southern University's Carbondale campus.

The group participated in the convention as part of a month-long "Agricultural Policy Seminar" sponsored by the Agency for International Development in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other agencies in Washington, D. C. Prior to the visit to Southern Illinois, the group spent two weeks in the nation's capital, discussing the role of agricultural policies in national development.

While at SIU, the group met with W. E. Kopper, dean of the School of Agriculture, to learn the university's role in the development of Southern Illinois agriculture. International Center, with the cooperation of the Jackson County Farm Bureau and County Extension Services, made arrangements for the group to spend some time with 28 area farm families this evening.

The agriculture specialists, representing five Latin American, six African and four Asian countries, are on a special facility inspection tour Aug. 17-20, visiting Dixon Springs Agricultural Center, DuQuoin Packing Co., Pinckneyville Grain Co. and other farm agricultural facilities in Jackson and Perry counties.

They will return this weekend to Washington for one more week of seminar sessions before going back to their countries.

Regional Report -- State Redistricted, Hospital Loan Guarantee Sought

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

The first two of three St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority public hearings concerning the proposed $350 million airport in Illinois took place Monday at the Waterloo High School gymnasium and Tuesday in Belleville at the Belleclair Exposition Hall.

The final hearing is set for 7 p.m. Aug. 23 in the Southern Illinois University-East St. Louis Center.

Madison and St. Clair Counties received $300 million in federal funds in military and civilian spending in 1970, according to Cong. Melvin Price. Federal money channeled into St. Clair County totaled more than $248 million, while the state's share was approximately $132 million.

Nearly 40% of the total, about $150 million, was spent by the U. S. Department of Defense—$42 million in Madison County and $107.5 million in St. Clair County.

The new reapportionment plan for the Illinois General Assembly was approved by the legislative Redistricting Commission. One of the principal innovations of the redistricting plan is that the legislative district boundaries often overlap county, municipal or township lines to achieve equitable division of population, as required by the U. S. Supreme Court.

As a result, voters in many cities and townships find themselves in new districts. Under the new plan, all seats in both houses of the state legislature will be at stake in the 1972 general election.

The American Zinc Co. Sault plant may be reopened. American Metal Climax, Inc. has been granted a 12-month option in which time the company will investigate the feasibility of reopening the plant.

If the New York firm decides to buy the plant, it will pay $3 million and American Zinc, which has been closed since June, will incur an $11 million book loss on the plant.

In other industrial news, the Industrial Financing Act, a bill intended to open the way for communities to attract new plants by allowing municipalities to issue revenue bonds to prepare complete industrial sites, has been passed by the Illinois General Assembly.

Granite City Steel Co. announced it plans no further layoffs during the annual seasonal low in steelmaking.

Federal officials will attempt to end a 40-day strike at the Pfizer, Inc., Mineral, Pigments and Metals Division in East St. Louis by bringing union and company representatives to a meeting.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved an appropriation of $23,700,000 in the nation bill to start production of the British-designed Harrier jet fighter aircraft by McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis.

The Madison County Public Building Commission approved the building of a storage building for county voting machines.

Hanner, Breitweiser & McLaughlin, Alton architectural firm, has been hired to design the structure, which is slated for completion in January 1972.

In other construction news, work is about 95% complete on Illinois Power Company's propane vapor injection plant about three miles south of Freeburg on Illinois 15.

The Kaskaskia Systems Library board has approved specifications for a new headquarters to be constructed at Smithton, just east of Illinois 159. The building, which will cost about $300,000, will be financed with state funds.

In Belleville, $40,000 remodeling program at the St. Clair County Children's Home, which began in May, is expected to be completed this month.

In general area news, workers returned to their jobs this week on Route 140 after reaching a tentative settlement over a jurisdictional labor dispute.

Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie has recommended to federal health officials approval of a $1.5 million loan guarantee for the proposed Collinsville-Edwardsville area hospital.

The Illinois Commissioner of banks and trusts, H. Robert Bartlett Jr., issued a permit for Maryville's first bank to be organized.

And an SIU-SW professor and department chairman, Dr. Boyd Mitchell, has been named interim superintendent of the Alton School District, replacing Dr. J. B. Johnson, who has retired.

Returns from Tour Of Duty in Vietnam
Specialist Four Ronald Jansen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jansen, 2811 Marshall Ave., returned home Wednesday from a year's tour of duty in Vietnam where he served in the Artillery with the 101st Airborne Division.

At the expiration of his 30-day leave he will report at Fort Sill, Okla. He will be accompanied by his wife, Diane, and daughter Laura.

74 Men Called For Draft Physical Exams

Seventy-four young men from Madison County were to report for physical examinations for the draft this week and late last week.

Of the 34 who were to report at the Alton board Monday, 26 reported while others enlisted or had physical examinations through other boards. Draft officials did not disclose how many young men reported from the Granite City board, which had a call for 18, or the Edwardsville board, where 22 were called.

With the induction freeze continuing until Congress acts to extend the draft, no inductions were reported for the second month and none are expected to be inducted in September. Physical examination calls for September will be issued next week. Selective Service officials said.

Fifth Dimension Keeps Up with Popular Sound

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

As more and more groups appear on the music scene, it seems obvious that one of the main ingredients of success is "staying power," both in a musical sense and as a group. Take, for example, the 5th Dimension.

Here is a group that hasn't made a change in its original lineup, and yet has managed to stay on top of the charts, both nationally and internationally, for nearly six years.

There are many reasons for McCoCo, a spokesman for the group, boiled it down into three main points: maturity, choice and style of music, plus talent and determination.

The quietest, consisting of Billy Davis Jr., Florence La Rue Gordon, Ron Townson, Lamonte McLemore and Marilyn, has been together since 1967.

Their albums and singles for the Soul City label and Bell Records have sold in the multi-millions.

"Up, Up And Away" was the song that spun them into musical orbit and has been followed by such hits as "One Soul Picnic" and, of course, "Aquarius/Let The Sunshine Out."

Reflecting on their success, Marilyn said one of the reasons they have stayed together is that they weren't teenagers when they formed the group.

"We had all been a round enough to realize that if you're going to make something a success, you can't get hung-up in ego problems," she explained.

THE FIFTH DIMENSION

"We didn't think that life was a big bowl of cherries or that we'd get big breaks and opportunities every day."

"So, once the group happened and became popular, we knew it wasn't an easy thing to do or accomplish. We're not about to mess it up."

Very much the voice of where music is today, the 5th Dimension has kept abreast of the popular sound.

Their style has changed since their start, going from a soft, light and melodic beat to a much heavier and funky beat.

Not wanting to be categorized for any one type of music, the group has started stepping out into new dimensions.

"We don't want people to call us a five-year-old group that sounded good back in the '60s," Marilyn said. "We're more concerned in entertaining people than ourselves, so we try to stay fresh and not get stale."

"You need performing talent to have longevity in this business and you must not lose yourself so completely in what you're doing that you forget the audience."

This brought to mind an incident that happened back in January when they were playing in Tahoe.

"We did a piece of material concerning war and it was such a downer to the audience that we never did it again in front of a nightclub," she recalled.

"We had built them up so high and the song brought them down so far, that it took everything we had, through the next three numbers and closing with 'Aquarius,' to get them back more more more more more up. People just don't want to hear about that sort of thing, I guess."

This feeling toward the public and the way the group handles it is largely responsible for the wide age spectrum of its fans.

And despite the pressures and the excitement, it is quite evident that a success has not spoiled The Fifth Dimension on stage, television or in their personal lives.

Taking a look at each one individually, they make up a fantastic group of people and it's no wonder they are a success.

Marilyn's rich voice, which has a four-octave range, heightens her classic beauty.

Born in New Jersey, she was reared in Los Angeles and was determined to make show business her career. She attended the University of California at Los Angeles and earned a bachelor of arts degree. She is married to Billy Davis Jr.

Davis, who was born in Missouri, is the most lighthearted of the group.

He once had his own group called the Emeralds, before he switched to a gospel group and then on to the 5th Dimension.

Florence La Rue Gordon started out to be a teacher in the Los Angeles area, but she couldn't suppress her musical interests. After meeting Lamonte McLemore, she joined the group and, in addition to lending her fine voice, she also is a beauty.

Lamonte is the only unmarried member of the group and at one time was a professional photographer. His music career started while he was in the Navy.

Ron Townson started his music career at the age of six. It was a reunion with his two St. Louis pals, Lamonte and Billy, which led him to join the group.

"I think this is another reason why we have stayed together," Marilyn said. "Because we were all friends before we started, and we still are friends even with our separate lives."

"We know when not to see each other, so it makes a nice reunion when we get back after a vacation. To me, this is really an important part of survival, being friends."

All About Albums
RCA Records has imported Indians from England, on wax. The band, Indian Summer, has written and recorded an album simply named "Indian Summer."

Both vocal and instrumental sounds on the album are very good, but a greater variety in the selections recorded would be welcomed, as many of the songs sound alike.

Denise Lewis Runnerup As DeMolay Sweetheart

Denise Ann Lewis of Granite City was selected as first runner-up in the State DeMolay Sweetheart Pageant held at the 43rd annual DeMolay Conclave during the weekend at Peoria.

Crowned as the sweetheart at a coronation ball Saturday night was Debbie Beard of Danville. Miss Lewis, the 50th local DeMolay sweetheart, and this year's May queen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lewis, 2418 Madison Ave.

Denise, 18, is a member of the local James Stuart Chapter of the local James Stuart Chapter was installed as state master counselor or before 450 delegates at a grand breakfast Sunday.

Also installed were Stephen C. Hileman, state secretary, Dwayne Pritchett, state coordinator of membership, and Paul Boyer, district 4 master counselor.

The local chapter was presented the first-place track trophy. Hileman chose the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University as the site for the 44th annual DeMolay conclave next year.

The installation team included Gilbert Watson and Irvin C. Branch, Comptroller Division, 437th Air Base Group, 430th Military Airlift Wing (MAC) from 4 August 1970 to 1 October 1970.

"During this period, Sergeant Neidhardt's outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership contributed to the outstanding success of the with his wife Janet, formerly of Charleston Air Force Base implementation/conversion to the Headquarters USAF, Base Level Data Automation Standardization Program, Phase II.

"The success of this implementation/conversion lends evidence to the outstanding standards of professionalism, pride, knowledge of career field and devotion to duty inherent in Sergeant Neidhardt.

"The distinctive accomplishments of Sergeant Neidhardt reflect credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

Media Majors Get On-Job Training
Mass communications majors at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, are earning academic credit, plus professional experience, on their off-days between classes.

According to advisers Edmund Hasse and Jack Shaheen, assistant professors of Journalism and broadcasting respectively, "the experience does not mean pulling copy off the wire services or changing ribbons on typewriters. Our seniors cover the police beats for daily papers, write news shows for commercial radio, prepare slide presentations and media analyses for national advertising clients, or develop television learning packages for kindergarten students."

During the period of internship, the student and sponsor are visited several times by the SIU-SW faculty adviser. At the end of the work term, the student presents a detailed report on his experience, and the sponsor is asked to submit a letter evaluating the student's performance.

Future Secretaries Set Six Events for Year

The program committee of the Granite City High School chapter of Future Secretaries Association planned six required educational meetings during the school year at a meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Judi Sparks, faculty advisor.

Committee members present included: Dreama Landys, chairman, Pat Gould, Chris Schiber and Gloria Konkell. Also attending were Glen Hubbart, faculty advisor, and Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, representing the FSA sponsors, the Tri-Cities chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

It was decided that regular FSA meetings would be held on the second Tuesday of each month, with no meeting scheduled for September.

An amusing skit entitled "The Unpolished Gem" will be held on Oct. 5. It will illustrate the need for good secretarial skills, good grooming and right attitude. It will be presented by six FSA members and two NSA members under the supervision of Chris Schiber.

An invitation was extended to the FSA chapter to attend a meeting of the Alpha Ilii FSA chapter, sponsored by the Alton NSA chapter, in October. A session on parliamentary procedure is scheduled for the meeting of Nov. 9, pointing out the correct and incorrect ways to conduct a meeting. Dreama Landys will be program chairman.

A Christmas party will be held Dec. 14 under the direction of Gloria Konkell.

Inventor of Repeating Rifle Farmed, Studied as Youth

By BETT ANDERSON

Copley News Service
Samuel Colt was a teenager whose hobby eventually made him famous. But his hobby was a dangerous one.

He thought it groovy to make gunpowder and blow up old stumps with it. And he liked to take rusty old guns, clean and oil them and shoot at targets.

He was always supercautious when fooling around with explosives and fire arms. He knew they could be fatal to him.

Sam and his numerous brothers and sisters were too much of a handful for their stepmother. So they were farmed out to families in nearby Connecticut towns.

Sam was sent to farmer Greer, who made the teen-ager sow, plow, mend fences and take care of the livestock. Sam hated it.

He dreamed day and night of the exciting popping noises made when a match is applied to gunpowder.

Sam thought education was invented just to plague him. To him, Latin really was a dead language.

Math and geography seemed a great waste of time when he could be spending the hours with experiments that smelled and sizzled and, hopefully exploded. He didn't even go in for athletics.

He wasn't very popular at school until the students discovered he could make firecrackers.

Then he wasn't popular with the teachers when the firecrackers set fire to the curtains in his dorm room. He left school before they could sue him.

Sam returned home, determined to be a sailor. At 15, he went to sea.

He soon found out that a boat was not his bag. It was a watery Dullsville. So he passed the time whittling wooden pistols.

When he returned home two years later, he had whittled parts for a gun that he hoped would shoot half a dozen times without reloading.

When the Colt repeating rifle was finally perfected, he sold the first one to the U. S. Army.

The soldiers used them to win against the Seminole Indians in their struggle for the possession of the state of Florida.

Campus Police to Wear New Blazers in Fall

Security officers at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will have a new look this fall, more in keeping with their responsibilities, university officials say.

Officers will discard traditional police uniforms in favor of blazers and slacks. Military style titles will also be discarded.

"Our security unit does not function in the same way that a city police force does. Most of our work involves vehicle control, crowd handling and property protection," B. D. Hudgens, director of business services, said, "and we do not need uniformed officers for these duties."

Security personnel will be fitted for blazers and contrasting slacks prior to the opening of the fall quarter Sept. 21. The blazers will have emblems on the pockets indicating the wearers are security men.

In addition to the new uniforms, officers will have new titles. Instead of being ranked as patrolmen and sergeants, they will be rated as security officers in various grades under the university's civil service system.

'Jesus Revolution' to Be Staged at SIU-SW

The Jesus Revolution, the mood currently sweeping across America, is highlighted in an explosive concert attraction titled "The Jesus Revolution" that debuts Friday under the tent at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern. Produced by Bob Yde Associates, the organization that staged the American Rock Opera Co. presentation of "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "The Jesus Revolution" uses today's top tunes to tell the story of Jesus and then switches to an original rock-opera to present a new look at some people from the Bible's Old Testament. The show stars The Mission, a rock-folk vocal group with a new single, "I Wonder," and album, "Temple Turning Time," currently breaking well; Tom Martel, the young performer who created the show's rock opera; Dorothy Lamer; and Susie Walcher. Divided into two parts, "The Jesus Revolution" begins with a fast moving sing-out of Jesus songs and then presents "Hard Time Being God," the story that brings to life the story of God, Moses and Amos. "The Jesus Revolution" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Ticket-

Adults may register from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. from the opening date through Thursday, Sept. 2. Classes will start Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Due to cutbacks in state and federal reimbursements for a dual vocational education, along with increasing costs, tuition will be slightly higher than last year, according to M. A. Wittevrongel, adult education director. In addition, all state aid for drivers training courses has been discontinued, Wittevrongel said. As a result, tuition for drivers training will be increased approximately 100% as the state formerly paid more than one-half of the cost, he said.

Apprenticeship training and other classes which are coordinated with on-the-job activities will be planned as needs become apparent and time is available, Wittevrongel said. Such courses are planned with joint apprenticeship committees, formed by labor and management representatives who are state knowledgeable, he added.

Schedule of Courses

Courses prescheduled are as follows: Basic education (1-5); general educational development—organized review for state high school equivalent certificate examination; English as a second language; driver training; sewing—beginning and advanced; bookkeeping—beginning, intermediate and advanced; and office machines.

Stenography—beginning, intermediate and advanced; typing —beginning, intermediate and advanced (written business communications); data processing—basic concepts and operation of basic machines; and advanced machine operation; industrial mathematics; pipetting; and welding—gas, electric and shielded-arc (MIG-Arc).

Blueprint reading—basic blueprint reading and sketching, trade blueprint reading, electrical, mechanical, structural; electricity—direct current I, alternating current I, electric control systems I, and air conditioning and refrigeration.

Industrial mathematics—basic math, applied algebra, applied geometry, and applied trigonometry; machine shop—bench work, lathe, shaper, milling machines, grinders, and numerical control; and sheet metal layout—simple and advanced layouts, and triangulations.

Social Policy Institute Based on Order By Governor Rather Than on a State Law

By JERRY OWENS
Copley News Service
Springfield—What is the Illinois Institute for Social Policy? That's a question the state Civil Service Commission would like to have answered.
At its July meeting, the three-member commission initially raised some serious questions about the institute, which Gov. Richard Ogilvie created by executive order on July 17, 1970.
Among other things, the commission and its legal staff wonder if the institute is even a legal body. And, if it is, are its director and employees subject to provisions of the Personnel Code? Here is what led up to the Civil Service Commission's probe:
On July 17, 1970, Ogilvie signed Executive Order 3, stating that "there is established the Illinois Institute for Social Policy, which shall develop, demonstrate and evaluate ways to improve services relating to manpower, health, public assistance and related services in the state of Illinois."
A second provision in the executive order is that the institute "shall be headed by a director designated by and responsible to the governor, and shall employ in accordance with the Personnel Code such staff of requisite technical and specialized competence as necessary to effectuate the purposes of the institute."

And: "The institute shall receive and expend funds from any source and may utilize appropriations to state agencies when institute programs are applicable for the purposes for which such appropriations were made."
"For fiscal year 1971 (last fiscal year) these funds shall specifically include the $3,300,000 item appropriation to the Department of Public Aid for Experimental Projects undertaken with the approval of the governor."
And, finally: "The institute is authorized to operate demonstration projects including joint programs for consolidation and restructuring of the state social service delivery system."
The Civil Service Commission became interested last December after State Personnel Director Alan Drazek and then-institute Director Roy Wehrle formally urged the commission to exempt from the Personnel Code (civil service system) two executives under the director. One was to head the Peoria Tri-County Demonstration Project, and the other the Chicago Woodlawn Project.

The request was made because Drazek and Wehrle felt top subordinates are policy-makers and should be political appointees rather than locked in under the code.
Following the request, the commission began a detailed study of the institute and its status in order to determine if the request should be granted.
A June 3 report prepared by the commission's staff noted that the institute "is not a creature of statute. There is no definition of its powers and duties which exists in the statutes. Neither has recognition been granted to it by the legislature in appropriations."
"Rather, the governor, by executive order, has diverted funds from the Department of Public Aid which were appropriated . . . as follows: 'There is appropriated to the Department of Public Aid for Experimental Projects the sum of $3,300,000.'
"No contract shall be entered into or obligation incurred for any expenditure from the appropriation made in this section until after the purpose and amount of such expenditure has been approved, in writing, by the governor."
The report suggested that since the institute apparently is not established by law, but merely set up by an executive order which may not in this circumstance have the force of law, all personnel must therefore be covered by the Personnel Code. Not only should the two subordinates to the director be under the code but also the director himself, it said.

Lawn & Garden

WEBWORMS AND THATCH
Thatch buildup in your lawn can be an innocent development when you treat every year for webworm. This conclusion is based on research with persistent and non-persistent pesticides at the University of Illinois.
Two treatments for lawn webworm or a spring treatment for grubs and a summer treatment for webworms is a common recommendation for good turf grass. When chlordane is the insecticide this duplicates the research with chlordane and dieldrin which resulted in a buildup of thatch. Parallel studies with diazinon and carbaryl did not cause a buildup of thatch while webworm control was equal.
Earthworms seem to be a key factor where thatch in bluegrass lawns develop to a second generation in August. Oystershell scale produces a gray scurf appearance on a variety of trees and shrubs. Lilac, apples and conifers are often affected. Eumomus scale appears on eumomus and pines and spruce as white flecks on the undersides of the leaves.
Two spray applications of malathion at weekly intervals in early August will reduce the problem. Repeat the treatment in early June! When treating ground covers, concentrate on the undersides of the leaves.

Nixon Visit Boosts Ogilvie's Rising Political Prospects

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield — President Richard M. Nixon's Springfield visit yesterday could be a big boost for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.
It couldn't have come at a better time. For, in recent weeks, there have been increasing indications that the governor's political fortunes may be on the rise at last.
Most significant of all as far as the Statehouse is concerned is that important Democrats, privately as well as publicly, are no longer talking of 1972 as a lead-pipe cinch as far as the governor's race is concerned.
Few are now taking it for granted that anyone can beat Ogilvie. At the same time, Republican hopes for next year, which have been deep in the well of pessimism for months, are beginning to brighten.
Why have the Ogilvie prospects taken a turn for the better?
There are several factors cited beneath the Capitol Dome. First, there is a feeling that his record as governor, regarded by objective students of state government as an outstanding one, shows some signs of being recognized by the voters as well.

Evidence of the unparalleled progress achieved by the Ogilvie administration in a remarkably short period of time is beginning to show in day-to-day activity.
Booming highway construction is an obvious example. Despite some high-level grumbling about his year's budget, the expansion in state colleges and universities and the rapidly growing junior college system continues at an impressive pace.
Joint programs in the medical health field involving the state and private hospitals are beginning to show results in brick and mortar.
The outcome of the regular session of the 1971 legislature has added substantially to the Ogilvie stature. His programs submitted to the legislature were good ones and were so hailed by the overwhelming consensus of the Illinois press. Most of them have been enacted into law.
The rapid advancement of the Illinois anti-pollution campaign, probably the best of any state in the union, is a masterful achievement. Illinois is also leading the way in the new concept of transportation planning embracing highways, mass transit system, railroads and airports.

There also appears to be a growing realization among the public that Ogilvie knows what he is doing as governor and is performing well in an exceedingly tough job.
The fact that the President came into the state in a major as well as historic appearance reflects on the Ogilvie achievements. If Ogilvie had a poor record as governor, one can be sure Mr. Nixon would stay clear of Illinois.
The President's visit undoubtedly presided for good any lingering speculation that the White House might be encouraging a "dumping" of Ogilvie from the 1972 ticket.
By coming here, Mr. Nixon is giving Ogilvie the endorsement from on high. Even the most persistent party schemer will have to recognize that.
What about the state income tax?
It is still Ogilvie's biggest problem. But it may well be far less a heated issue than it was a year ago.

Some Democratic gubernatorial aspirants continue to hammer away with it as a political tool but its effectiveness may be lessening.
It is unlikely that any Democratic candidate for governor is going to come out for income tax repeal. To do so would be such an obvious act of political irresponsibility that voters might well mark a big turn in the road.
Obscene Words Painted, Two Youths Charged

Plastic Recycling Process Sought in 3-Year Project

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service
Determination being one of the most admirable human characteristics, let's look at some gratifying examples:
Ecology-minded scientists, not content with developing a process to recycle computer printout paper for reuse in a variety of ways, now are determined to achieve something just as dramatic with plastics.
It appears there's a good possibility of recovering and reusing plastics found in plain old garbage and other solid waste without having to separate them by their chemical types. So a three-year research project aimed at this achievement is under way at the University of Texas in Austin.
The federal government's Environmental Protection Agency is sufficiently impressed by the prospects of recovering plastics from the waste that it has put up $2,142 as a research grant to help out.
"The use of plastics is increasing rapidly," says Richard D. Vaughn, EPA's deputy assistant administrator for solid waste management programs. "It will pose an increasing burden on existing solid waste collection and disposal systems. So a new method of recovery is needed."
Dr. Donald R. Paul, associate professor of chemical engineering at Texas University, says plastics are widely sought for packaging because they are cheap and easy to use.
"The reason there is an excess of plastics is that they can be used once and discarded. What we need is a new way to take care of this plastic waste," he said.
Low Cost Is Trick
The trick will be to recover three polymers (plastics) from paper, metal and glass wastes at a minimum of cost and labor.
Polymeric materials — in this case polyethylene, polystyrene and polyvinyl — include a broad class of plastics, rubber and synthetic fibers which could be reused in new products if the Texas University project develops a successful separation process.
Dr. Paul says it's too early to tell, but if determination is a factor, then achievement is just three years around the corner, the chemist predicts.
Try Fuel Tests
At the University of California, Riverside, students and school officials, determined to tidy up the air, shifted from gasoline to propane fuel systems on campus vehicles. The result was lower air pollution levels and reduced maintenance costs.
They found among other things that crankcase oil remains cleaner with propane than with gasoline because no liquid gas and fewer impurities enter the crankcase; engines operate longer before repairs are necessary and start more quickly in cold weather.
Acceleration and power are about equal for gasoline and propane, they discovered, and the cost per mile is about the same for each fuel.

As for determination, try this for starters:
In London, after Dorothy Crawford broke off her engagement in 1916 to Daniel Briggs to care for her sick mother, Briggs nevertheless continued to carry Dorothy's picture in his wallet.
Eventually he married another woman, but she died four years later.
Recently, while he was visiting a son in London, Briggs, now 79, looked up his sweet heart, now 81.

Simon Praised for Ability, Integrity, Long Experience

A group calling itself the Paul Simon for Governor Committee on Monday afternoon urged Lieutenant Governor Simon to run for governor in 1972, and said it planned to take the issue to the people by a statewide petition drive.

"Seldom in Illinois history has there been the opportunity to select a governor with the integrity, capability and experience possessed by Paul Simon," Newton Minow of Glenview, Timothy Ives of Bloomington and Dr. Donald Prince of Winnetka, spokesman for the committee, said.

"Simon can articulate the issues and he has unusual courage," Minow, Ives and Prince said. "He is not the kind of candidate who will say one thing before the election and do the opposite after he is elected."

Prior to his election in 1968 as lieutenant governor, the 42-year old Simon served eight years in the Illinois House of Representatives and six years in the State Senate.

He is the only person in Illinois history to be elected lieutenant governor with a governor of the opposite political party.

Petition Drive
The group said it has laid the groundwork for circulating petitions in every county of the state and has opened an office in Chicago at 134 North La Salle St.

"We believe Paul Simon is the overwhelming choice of the people to be the Democratic candidate for governor and, with the help of volunteers, will enlist the support of thousands of Illinois citizens."

Members of the Committee are: John Coleman, vice-president of the Service Employees International Union; Patrick Crowley, Chicago attorney and civil leader and Patricia, his wife, a board member of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Chicago Interlacial Council.

Sen. Kenneth Hall of East St. Louis, the only downstate black ever elected to the State Senate and the chairman of the East St. Louis Democratic Central Committee; Ives, radio broadcasting and newspaper executive from Bloomington.

Robert Johnston, Region Four director of the United Auto Workers of America; John Kennedy, Chicago businessman and manufacturer; Mrs. Leon La-met of Warsaw, president of the Western Illinois University Foundation and a former department chairman of Washington University in St. Louis.

Amvets Add Airmen's Name To Tribute Plaque

A gold plate inscribed with the name of a Venice serviceman has been added to an imposing walnut plaque which was presented last year by National Amvet Commander Robert G. Goulin to a public tribute to the City of Venice.

The award was bestowed by the Amvets in recognition of the community's part in initiating the practice of lowering all flags to half-staff upon the death of a serviceman in action and the arrival of his remains in his hometown.

At a buffet dinner during the weekend the plaque with its new addition was presented to Airman First Class Joseph Michael Boushard, 22, of Venice, whose part in starting the flag-lowering project came to light only after formal presentation of the award was made to the city.

Policy of flying official flags at half staff has since been adopted in nearly 1,000 communities across the United States under sponsorship of the national, state and local Amvet organizations.

Honored at Party

Amvet Steve Konkovich said that Airman 1. C. Boushard, currently home on leave from duty in Thailand, was honored by Amvets Post 51 at Saturday's dinner party. The affair was held at the Post Home, 5108 Lakeview Drive.

Along with the young serviceman, the Amvet officials also honored his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Boushard, Venice.

Other honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Freize, 1325 Robin St., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wallen, 56 Venice Homes, the parents of two Venice servicemen—Marine Private First Class Melvin Freize, 19, and Marine Private First Class Gary Lee Wallen, 18—both of whom were killed in action in 1969 in Vietnam a few weeks apart.

It was shortly after the deaths of his two friends, Marines Wallen and Freize, that Airman 1. C. Boushard, then a civilian, suggested that city flags should be lowered in respect.

PROUD PLAQUE RECIPIENT, Airman First Class Joseph Michael Boushard of Venice, center, was honored by the Amvets as the originator of the policy of lowering flags to half staff when a local serviceman has died in action. With him at the ceremony were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Boushard, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Freize, right, of Venice, parents of a serviceman killed in Vietnam.

Enacted Ordinance

The suggestion was relayed to the Venice City Council which enacted an ordinance providing that official flags would fly at half staff position while a local serviceman's remains lie in state.

The new plate added to the Amvet plaque reads: "Airman First Class Joseph Michael Boushard, U.S.A.F., presented by Amvets Post 51 for originating the Amvets Venice Tribute for our fallen comrades. For having the American Flag lowered to half staff in memory of two of his fallen comrades, Melvin Freize and Gary Wallen, for the three days they laid in state. The Venice Tribute is now national in scope and was introduced in Congress and made into a National Resolution."

Presenting the award was Commander Ben Sanders of Amvets Post 51, Ken Shoemaker, of Mount Vernon Post 4 and commander of Amvets Fifth Division, presented Boushard with a Division Award, Francis Swin, Mount Vernon, National Amvets Service Officer, also attended.

HONORED AT CEREMONY, Airman Joseph Boushard, left, is presented a plaque for originating the idea of flying the flag at half mast as a community tribute to war dead. The plaque was presented by Ben Sanders, Post 51 Commander.

State Education TV Adding Color

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—Two color television cameras costing approximately $100,000 have been delivered to the educational television program in the office of State School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis.

The cost includes the two units plus color monitors and other equipment necessary for using them. The camera systems were obtained, after bidding, from Norelco.

William Schaub, director of community relations in Bakalis' office, said the cameras had actually been ordered, and money allocated to pay for them, by Bakalis' predecessor, Ray Page.

The cameras already have been put to use in producing two film strips, including one on a Rockford school.

Until recently, all education television footage produced by the superintendent's office was done in black and white, which many television stations will not now accept.

Addition of the new equipment is part of a general overhaul going on in the educational television branch of Bakalis' office, where veteran NBC television newsman Charles "Chick" McCuen has been brought in as head of a team on "media programming" which includes educational television.

The entire educational television program in Bakalis' office is currently being reconsidered, chiefly to determine how much "in house" production should be "shot" in the future, in relation to the amount of "canned" footage produced elsewhere and then purchased by the department.

The "in house" films made specifically by Bakalis' office for use in Illinois, have the advantage of being related entirely to Illinois problems and programs; commercially produced strips are usually more general, suitable for use in educational programs in any state.

Also under study, but not yet resolved, is a proposed change in distribution of ETV material, involving past and present use of two microwave stations, one at Jacksonville and one at Champaign. These reportedly were able to supply viewers in their broadcast areas with several times as much material as other areas in the state, where footage was mailed to certain scattered stations.

St. John's Church to Dramatize 109 Years History in Sunday Programs

An authentic service of 75 years ago and the celebration of the 109th anniversary of St. John United Church of Christ, with a historical background in four dramatic episodes which will feature music and scripture reading in German, will be presented at both the 9 a.m. and 10:20 a.m. services Sunday in conjunction with the Granite City Diamond Jubilee celebration.

As the worshippers enter the sanctuary they will be greeted by ushers attired in Jubilee costumes who will seat the men on the right side and the women on the left side of the sanctuary, it was announced by Rev. Paul Surbey, pastor. Rev. Philip Lamar is assistant pastor. The theme of the services will be, "This is your Life" and will be presented in four segments taken from the church book of history.

Scene One will portray a planning session held somewhere in the woods in the Six Mile Prairie east of what is now known as Nameoki on June 28, 1862. The meeting was held in a farm house to discuss the need for a German Protestant Church east of St. Louis.

Scene Two will depict the first congregational meeting on July 12, 1863, at 2901 Nameoki Road, the location of the present church. The first formal meeting was attended by fourteen men including August Brandes, William Slorck, August Ruwisch, Henry Rudolph, Henry Harmer, Louis Bruene, John Seehing, Christian Pieper, Fred Kahle, Conrad Wolf, Fred Meyer, Christian Burdort and William Harmer.

Scene Three will show the perseverance of the church membership when a tornado leveled most of Granite City and they met on March 8, 1871 to render relief and to rebuild the frame sanctuary.

In the fourth and final segment, an authentic worship service of 1886 will be presented complete with announcements such as a community-wide picnic at Stemmer's Grove and Mollenbrock's picnic grounds; Special music in German; receiving the offering in the "Klingensbeutels"; Ray Willie, song leader, will lead by congregation in hymns of 1862.

The remaining portion of the service will seat the trustees in elevated chairs of honor during a "mini" sermon of 1886, when the original sermons took a full 40 minutes.

The Rev. Henry Wintermeyer will read the scriptures in German.

Use of Illinois State Parks May Increase Dramatically

By GOVERNOR RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Springfield, Ill. — We are engaged in a tough and fantastic game of "catch up" in our state park system.

At the halfway mark this year, the 99 parks, conservation areas, "boating access facilities and memorials had attracted more than 12 million visitors.

This is more than 2 million greater than the attendance at the same time last year.

But the "people explosion" in the out-of-doors has really just begun.

Knowledgeable men are predicting that the Illinois state park system will see 200 million visitors a year within the next 20 years.

The tremendous current number of visitors, the maintenance and staffing of the parks, and all the planning for the future are hobbled by a work force of only 1,600 persons.

Their report to me can be summed up in a few words: "We've come a long way, But we still have a lot farther to go."

The biggest problem we face—and will continue to face for some time—is that Illinois lagged in the past in developing its public areas.

We're no longer dead last—in land area compared to population—among the states with park systems because of the accelerated acquisition program of the past three years.

But the eightfold expansion in use we're predicting gives you an idea of the job ahead of us. Fortunately, the Department of Conservation now has the professional capacity to plan for future needs in an orderly and balanced way.

Yet 90% of today's complaints would be avoided, conservation officers tell me, if all visitors had access to "indoor" plumbing. As fast as we can, we are getting rid of pit toilets. We are also deep into a program of expansion and renovation of facilities, trails, campgrounds, bath and shower facilities, and boat access sites.

There are two things that visitors can do to improve and enhance the use of our park system:

1. Be good citizens, with all that being a good citizen entails. Litter, for example, is a serious and costly problem. If others are rowdy or are breaking the law, seek help.

2. Branch out a bit—try some of the under-utilized parks in central and southern Illinois. These include some of the most scenic and beautiful public areas in Illinois.

What may be even more important to your comfort and enjoyment is the fact that they're not crowded. Some specific suggestions: — Lincoln Trail Park near Marshall.

— Sam Dale Lake Conservation Area in Wayne County.

— Lake Murphysboro State Park in Jackson County.

— Feme Clyffe in Johnson County.

— McClean County Conservation Area near Bloomington.

— Sam Parr State Park in Jasper County.

In the heavily patronized parks, conservation officers are mounting a "diffusion" program.

In simple terms, that means expanding the areas of heaviest use into the wider reaches of the parks, most of which are quite large.

Meanwhile, a sharp policy change has come about in the department.

Ronald Johnson, superintendent of parks and memorials, puts it this way:

"The new attitude removes the previous stress on the department's hunting and fishing responsibilities, and recognizes an equal responsibility to assist people in resource usage."

There should be no doubt about one thing: 25 million visitors a year must feel a sense of welcome to continue their enthusiastic use of our growing system.

To all Illinois and out-of-state visitors, I extend a warm, personal welcome—and a plea:

Come to our parks. Enjoy them. And leave them a little cleaner than you found them.

With your help and lots of hard work on our part, the Illinois park system will become one of the finest in the nation.

Pessimism on State Welfare Spending Trend

By CARYL CARSTENS
Copley News Service

Springfield — Increases in the Illinois welfare rolls are accelerating instead of diminishing and state officials are giving the public aid crisis number one priority.

Gov. Richard Ogilvie's $1 billion public aid budget for 1971-72 was based on a smaller increase in the welfare rolls than the state experienced last winter.

Ogilvie—in cutting $65 million from the public aid appropriation on July 13—emphasized that the $1 billion he approved would be sufficient to support the state's welfare program only if the rate of increase slowed considerably.

While the next increase in persons on welfare dropped to 14,821 in May, tentative figures show the net number of new cases in June jumped to 20,683. In June, there were 863,457 persons on the welfare rolls, 28,021 more than in June 1970.

Public Aid Director Harold Swank said reductions in the number of new welfare recipients normally diminish in the spring and early summer and begins to increase again in August.

In March, 25,067 persons were added to the rolls. The April increase dropped sharply to 19,082 and dropped in May still more to 14,821. In June, the trend was reversed.

Swank said there "is no basis for being optimistic" about the state's welfare crisis.

Disability cases, general assistance rolls and the Aid to Dependent Children program all continue to increase sharply, he reported.

John McCarter, Bureau of the Budget director, said he and affected department directors met with the governor to discuss the aid situation. It will continue to have first priority among the state's problems, he said.

The $1 billion federal job program to hire persons to work for state and local governments may help to slow the welfare increase. Pres. Richard Nixon signed that legislation.

McCarter said Illinois already has filed an application for a share of the federal jobs program.

Norbert Woods, 13 Devon Hill Lane, reported at 1 p.m. Monday that while the family was on vacation for three weeks several youths forced the basement window and entered his home.

They ate strawberries from the freezer, drank some wine and vandalized the refrigerator. He added that they also scratched an obscene word on his 1969 auto parked in his driveway and broke off the radio antenna.

A note plus a $5 bill was left in his mailbox by one of the youths who were identified. They are 11, 12, 13 and 15 years old.

Mysteries of Jupiter Pose Challenge to Scientists

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

If you don't know much about the planet Jupiter, you needn't feel embarrassed. The largest planet, it also is the greatest enigma and challenge to space scientists.

Americans will begin to read and hear more about this mysterious globe, with its rotational speeds, as the federal space agency begins to press for White House and congressional action on its plans for so-called Grand Tour missions.

The idea is to use Jupiter's tremendous gravity to send unmanned spacecraft on extended scientific journeys to the outer planets in the late 1970s and early 1980s. Theoretically, the spacecraft would be attracted by Jupiter's gravity, then "bounced" off with a carom or slingshot effect to speed on toward other more distant planets. Some space scientists call this the "pool table" pattern.

Two missions to Jupiter, Saturn and Pluto have been proposed, with launches in 1978 and 1977. By 1979, the space agency hopes to send two craft on a triangular Jupiter-Uranus-Neptune mission. Each of the journeys would last eight to 10 years.

Information Leaking
Dr. Donald G. Rea, assistant laboratory director of CalTech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., long a student of Jupiter lore, concedes most scientists don't know much about the planet.

"Jupiter emits about three times as much energy as it receives from the sun," he says. "It has a magnetic field 20 times that of earth, intense radiation belts and apparently rotates at three different speeds."

Much of what science knows of Jupiter and Saturn is "ambiguous," Rea admits. "And the farther out we go, the less we understand the natural environment, planetary structure and composition. About Pluto, we really know next to nothing."

However, he adds, ignorance about Pluto is "excusable," since it is the most far-out of the planets, some 3.6 billion miles from the sun and possibly only about half the size of our earth.

Jupiter, on the other hand, is more than 10 times the size of earth and a bonanza of 483 million miles from the sun. A spacecraft would require two years to arrive there, for Jupiter is about three times more distant than Mars, target of the present U.S. Mariner 9 mission.

Thick Cloud Cover
Earth-based astronomers even with the strongest telescopes and radio techniques have been unable to establish whether Jupiter and Saturn have solid, earth-like surfaces. Each has thick cloud cover, but holes in the Jupiter cloud bank indicate "hot spot" regions, according to Rea.

The "Great Red Spot" of Jupiter, which has puzzled astronomers for centuries, is an oval-shaped area three times earth's diameter. It appears in the planet's atmosphere but also has its own irregular rotational cycle, Rea says.

He believes the planet's 12 moons, especially the four largest, would provide valuable radiation and reflectivity studies. The high reflectivity—or shine—of some Jovian satellites suggests they might be frost-covered, according to the JPL science chief.

The quarter—to Europa, Ganymede and Callisto—are called the Galilean satellites because the astronomer Galileo discovered them in 1610. To and Europa are about the size of our moon, while Ganymede and Callisto are larger than Mercury, the smallest planet.

Saturn, 85 per cent of Jupiter's size, has a hydrogen-filled atmosphere and a cloud cover similar to that of Jupiter. Each has alternating light and dark bands, but Saturn's distinctive feature, its brilliant encircling rings, will have a top study priority on Grand Tour missions, according to Rea.

May Be Dust
"The rings probably are dust covered with water ice, at least one kilometer to one mile thick," he theorizes.

Rea believes Saturn's 10 satellites also are worth studying up close, especially Iapetus, which has one hemisphere six times brighter than the other, and Titan, on which methane gas has been detected. The little-known Pluto is similar to Mars in size and to earth in density. If it has satellites, none has been discovered from earth, according to Rea. There is a theory that Pluto once may have been a satellite of Neptune and then broke away.

James E. Long of JPL's advanced planning staff envisions a three-year Jupiter orbiting mission in the early 1980s. He says a 2,500-pound spacecraft could be flown to Jupiter and spun into orbit after a two-year flight from earth. He suggests the man-made Jovian satellite could orbit the huge planet once every 15 days and transmit a steady stream of scientific data, including pictures of Jupiter and its four major natural satellites.

Need Measurements
"It's clear that not all questions about Jupiter can be answered by the planned (late 1970) first missions," Long concedes. "If we are to understand why Jupiter is so different from earth and Mars we must get direct measurements well into the planet's atmosphere over long time periods to determine the dynamic process involved."

A dozen scientific experiments weighing about 200 pounds could be packed into a Jupiter orbiter, Long says, for a mission to follow the earlier spacecraft fly-bys.

JPL and its space scientists have more than casual interest in still undefined blueprints for unmanned space journeys to far-out planets.

It is developing Grand Tour spacecraft, sustained by self-repairing computers and designed for 10-year scientific missions to the outer planets, under contract to the federal space agency.

JPL engineers emphasize multi-year missions and transmission distances up to more than 3 billion miles in the case of Neptune and Pluto will require a new breed of space computers.

Electronic Brain
Richard A. Easton, a JPL engineer working on a dual computer system for Grand Tour spacecraft, says one will be the electronic brain and the other the nervous system.

The computerized brain will continually test and repair itself and in effect operate the spacecraft, while the electronic nervous system will control telemetry—the transmission of information back to earth.

"Potentially hazardous environments, such as the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter, or radiation from Jupiter itself, require that Grand Tour spacecraft sub-systems be self-adaptive to either temporary or permanent failures," Easton explains. "Another consideration is the eight-hour round trip communications delay from Neptune or Pluto."

Easton and his colleagues, Carl Wertz and Paul Chelson, emphasize that a whole range of testing in the first half of this decade is essential if Grand Tour spacecraft are to be ready to fly in the late 1970s.

Man Assaulted, Hurt
Kit Wood, 2015 Washington Ave., was beaten by a man while he was with friends in the back yard of his home and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance for treatment to cuts to the face and head, it was reported at 3:30 p.m. Monday. The assailant fled in an auto.
